MODERNISATION OF CULTURES AND COMMUNITIES IN THE 21ST CENTURY

CONVENOR: DR. BIRENDRA SUNA

ABSTRACT

It examines the impact of modernisation on cultures and communities in the 21st century. It highlights the consequences of increased globalisation, technological advances, and new forms of communication on the traditional cultures of communities and the ways in which individuals and communities interact and are connected. It further investigates the opportunities and challenges that come with the modernisation of these cultures and communities, such as the potential for increased economic development and the possibility of threats to cultural identity and social cohesion. Finally, it discusses some of the strategies that may be employed to ensure that modernisation of cultures and communities is managed in a way that encourages greater social and cultural understanding.
